Lone Pine W.I. will hold a dance at Lone Pine hall on Friday, June 7, with the Melody Five orchestra supplying the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Spraggs of Calgary were weekend visitors in the district.

Mrs. Schumaker and Mrs. Nelson left Sunday for Edmonton to attend the W.I. convention.

Last Week's
Mother's Day visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bittner were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Smith and son, of Banff.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Baptiste and family, Teddy Weale and Harold Hobbs were Mother's Day callers on Mr. and Mrs. Alfie Thompson.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Milne on the birth of another son.

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,
Didsbury Pioneer,
Didsbury, Alberta.
Dear Sir: maybe you'll find the following worthy of print. It seems timely to me.

TO THE SACRIFICIAL TREES:
God planted you there
So lovely and fair,
The country-side to enhance,
But you're doomed my friends
By these heartless men:
You haven't a ghost of a chance!
The birds who sing
In the joy of Spring,
And who rest on your branches
wide,
Must leave their nests
On your leafy breasts
And go elsewhere to reside.
Long you've served well,
Faithful sentinel;
Watching over the fields,
Keeping the soil
For the men who toil,
Not knowing the power 'an wield!

The deadly spray
Of this chemical day
Will kill you, root to crown.
You'll stand there so bare
In the mid-day glare,
Accusingly looking down.
The axe would do
If they wanted to Cut the trees that have lived long enough;
Leave the trees in their prime
To another time.
But that would take work,
and that's tough!
The wind will blow,
The good earth will go,
And they'll wish they'd let you live;
It will be too late,
They've sealed your fate,
And scorned the shelter you give!
(signed) Mrs. Dorothy Ross
Harmattan

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD J. FULCHER

Many trees are planted each year to serve as farmstead and field shelter belts, many more are planted as roadside plantings. In addition to this, ornamental trees are planted singly or in groups about homes.

In the establishing of trees much time and effort is spent to prepare the land as well as in the planting itself. It is very important then that these trees are not lost. The land about the young trees should be kept cultivated. Grass and weeds will otherwise encroach on the trees and take the available moisture. Ground fires can get started in the dry grass in the spring and destroy the trees.

The ideal pattern would be to have a cover on the ground as you find in natural forest cover; this of course is impossible, however, after the trees become well established this condition more or less develops.

With cultivation the first few years, young trees make rapid growth and as they fill in the rows being much later cultivation may cease. If there is serious erosion it may be necessary to seed grass to provide a protective land cover. The trees planted with a tree planter often are left in a leaning position; this does not harm the tree growth at all. There is no need to straighten these trees as they grow straight as time progresses. In the case of evergreens it is best to straighten them, or if a young tree planted is almost completely covered with earth it should be loosened up. Care for a few years will ensure a satisfactory shelter belt.

FREDERICK D. SHAW

DO YOU KNOW ?

1. As your Member of Parliament F. D. Shaw has supported all legislation, regulations and amendments, regardless of which party sponsored them, if he considered such proposals to be in the public interest and that he has vigorously opposed those which he regarded as being contrary to the public welfare?

2. The Liberal government's tight money policy (credit control) has (a) restricted production (b) increased costs of production, (c) increased prices, (d) caused the collapse of many small businesses, (e) curtailed exports, and (f) strangled the home construction program?

3. In the fiscal year 1956-57 Canadians were over-taxed by the Federal government by approximately five hundred million dollars?

4. That the Progressive Conservative government of Ontario and the C.C.F. government of Saskatchewan gave no support to Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. Members of Parliament in their fight against the method of financing the Trans-Canada gas pipe line?

5. It has become a common practice for the Federal Government to provide tax cuts just before elections and to announce when the increases in social benefits are to become effective after elections?

6. At a public meeting in Nordegg (now a ghost town) in the 1933 election a Liberal Cabinet Minister informed his audience that the best guarantee they had to keep the mine operating would be to elect a Liberal Government?

7. Under Liberal trade policy Canada exported 446 million pounds of bacon to Britain in 1945 and in 1956 not one single pound was exported to Britain?

8. In the last provincial elections held in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C. the Social Credit Party polled the highest number of votes of any party (35,281) and the Progressive Conservatives got only 6,187, which was lower than either Liberal or C.C.F. totals?

9. Evidence indicates that Canada may once again have a two-party system: Liberals, Conservatives and the C.C.F. forming the one party and Social Credit the other?

10. That on June 10th you will be voting for either a Social Credit, a Liberal, a Progressive Conservative or C.C.F. Government, not a Low, St. Laurent, Diefenbaker or Coldwell government?

For an effective alternative to the present government and for capable, experienced, full-time representation...

Just For The Record . . .

There's a lot of grading and gravelling going on around town just about now, something we've been advocating for a long time. We're not in the know as regards further plans but we do think that the street oiling plan brought up at the last council meeting should be put into effect S.A.P. Our northern suburb (known as Olds in some parts) poured the black stuff on and have a very good facsimile of paved roads.

Just For The Record . . .

We don't often mention names in this column but a fella' who peddles milk around town (and golfs as a sideline) offered to show one of his bottles down my throat if he didn't get in the news. Can't blame him — he hit the golfer's dream shot on Sunday at the golf course here. Oh, just about forgot, George Wilkins was, is — and will be, the big gun for a long time. Using a five iron, and with Jean and Sam Devine on the sidelines he dropped one in the cup with a single stroke on hole number two.

Just For The Record . . .

The new street lights which were erected and turned on in town last week are just what we've needed for a long time. It's amazing the way they throw the colored light to places far from their base of operation. The usual number of complaints have been heard about the positioning of some of the flickers, but that was expected. We didn't have a conference with the planner but he certainly threw the light over our headquaters — but he could have put one . . . time to stop now!

Just For The Record . . .

We're quoting again: "Happiness lies in the taste and not in things; and it is from having what we desire that we are happy — not from having what others think desirable."

Do you know that the municipal debts of the Western provinces have increased at an alarming rate — especially in Alberta and British Columbia.

Here are the figures:
Manitoba . . . $99.9 million
Saskatchewan . . . $79 million
Alberta . . . $269.7 million
British Columbia . . . $269.8 million
And yet Alberta and British Columbia have reduced the gross debt service . . . ? — a neat shift onto the back of the municipal taxpayer, what?

The rapid development of our economy has allowed the government to multiply outlays on health and welfare more than six times in the past 20 years.

Legislation has now been passed which provides for a nation-wide system of insurance for hospital and diagnostic services. If all provinces participate the Federal government's share will amount to about $200 million a year.

When you pay your income tax remember that about $35 for every Alberta man, woman and child is actually provincial tax being collected and returned to the province by Ottawa.

BRIDE AND THE BUTCHER ! ! !
Bride to the butcher: "Six chicken heads, please."
Butcher: "Excuse me, please, but what on earth do you want with six chicken heads?"
Bride: "My husband said he'd like some chicken noodle soup."

Squirrel Cage . . .

EAGER ARTISTS

The newbreds poked the honeymoon suite in a hotel. The bride was a beautiful creature, truly statueque in figure, and her husband was obviously very much in love with her. The walls were thin, and two sailors occupied the next room.

"My dearest," said the husband, "you are beautiful. Guess I'll get a sculptor from New York to model you."

A moment later there was a knock on the door. "Who's there?" asked the husband.

"Two sculptors from New York."

A POPULAR O.C.

The Colonel stormed into the outpost, complaining that he had been fired at all the way up the line by German snipers. Calling his sharpshooters together, he ordered them to eliminate the snipers.

Presently, seeing a movement, a sharp-shooter fired and a German sniper fell to the ground. At nightfall the soldier crept out and brought the dead German in. "That'll teach you to miss our colonel," he said.

DRIVING HAZARDS . . .

Even the best of drivers may become involved in an accident to which he did not contribute through his own neglect or carelessness. Since there are such road hazards as children dashing out from behind parked cars or sledding from hidden driveways, a driver must be on the alert every foot of his way, not only for jay-walking adults or impaired drivers, but also for his own mental and physical condition.

If his eyesight is impaired, his health poor or if he is fatigued, his reactions are affected and his driving not up to par. It is much better not to drive when not feeling well or without necessary glasses to aid faulty vision.

By The Way

Contributed by
REV. T. J. STANTON, M.A.

"We are nearer God in the garden than anywhere else on earth."
We are so pre-occupied with home duties, business responsibilities, and the echoes of world-wide problems, that we forget the pleasure and the beauty of the garden at our door. There are other joys that brighten our days, because "there was a garden."

That garden was not a plot of garden vegetables, and flower beds, nor was it encircled by a ring of wild roses. It was rather a secluded place of gray rocks, and knarled old trees. But it was a fitting place to enjoy prayer and meditation. It was a place where spiritual values were realized and matured, through the medium of fellowship with the maker of all things.

Your garden and mine can be a place for fruitful meditation. Here we can enjoy the morning and the evening breezes as they play among the shrubs and flowers, and waft their fragrance skyward. Here we can rejoice in a release from the hurry and worries that could mar the pleasures of the day and the peace of the night. Here we can know a partnership which enables us to understand our worth and place in this larger order, which man did not make. Here we can see how the labours of our hands can add to the beauty of the home and also make a contribution that meets a need by increasing the family satisfactions.

On a hot summer day a visitor paused beneath an over-hanging tree. Then he turned and looked over the fence and exclaimed: "What a beautiful garden!" Then a voice from amid the flowers and bushes answered, "Why shouldn't it be beautiful. I live here." Man first lived in a garden, but when he left the garden he was directed to subdue the earth, to make that which was non-productive, productive and beautiful.

You remember the legend of the "Sleeping Beauty." The fair princess was put asleep. In the palace her father and mother, and their servants, were also asleep. They had been asleep for some time. Then came the prince. He wandered through the palace until he came to where the princess slept. He placed a kiss on her brow and she immediately awakened. The people all wakened from their sleep and the normal activities began again. Something like that has happened in nature and a beautiful life is evidenced in everything, no matter where we look.

In the gardens, as in the field, man shares in an enterprise that brings forth "seed for the sower and bread for the eater." So the garden is at one and the same a quiet place for meditation, and a place where work always awaits our hands and feet. It is also a place from which we return to our duties, whatever those duties be, refreshed. When life's responsibilities find us unprepared and inadequate it is nearly always because we have neglected the garden. We have overlooked the need for meditation and quiet, and that fellowship which enables us to understand our place and task.

"My garden is a lovesome thing. God wot!
Rose plot,
Fringed pool,
Fern grove —
The veriest school
Of peace; and yet the fool
Contented that God is not.
Not God in gardens! when the sun is cool?
Nay, but I have a sign!
'Tis very sure God walks in mine."

St. George's W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Crawshaw on May 8 with most members present. It was decided to be put in a Dorcas bale.

Mrs. Bill Crawford has moved to Cochrane to live, to be near Mr. Crawford, who is at present working at Jumping Pound. Mrs. Armstrong accompanied her daughter to Cochrane. The latter returned later in the week with Mrs. D. Oddy and Mrs. Workman.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Spooner had as their guests for the long weekend, Mrs. Northfield and her daughter, Mrs. Munro, of Vancouver, B.C.

Mrs. Jane Smith of Black Diamond, Mr. and Mrs. W. MacArthur of Royalties and Mr. and Mrs. W. Wiltsen and children of Calgary, were all weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Knights.

Mrs. A. Noakes has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Beauchamp of Olds for several days.

QUESTION PLEASE ! ! !
"Pop," said the youngster, "here's my report card, and it's bad again. What's the matter with me anyway — heredity or environment?"

KILL WEEDS EARLY: Annual weeds can be killed most effectively and economically when they are still young. Less of the recommended chemicals will be needed then, and also the weeds will be much easier to kill. Furthermore, moisture that would normally be taken to keep the weeds growing will then be available to the growing crop.

Tests conducted at Lacombe have shown a definite increase in the oat yield when hemp nettle was sprayed in the 4 to 6 leaf stage. Oats at this time being in about the third or fourth leaf stage.

These tests proved that the effect of weeds in reducing crop yields took place at the early stage. Whatever you can do in reducing weed competition early will return to you increased yields. Where (institutes, both Canada and now are present or known to be in the ground, it is not possible to carry through with this early spraying program.

Disturbances come later; this is especially true of the sow thistle. Spraying of these weeds is most satisfactory when they are approaching, or in the early bud stage.

However, this stage usually corresponds with a more advanced stage of the grain crop. Good judgment will be required to make sure that a safe period is chosen to carry out the spraying where perennial weeds are present.

But for annual weeds, remember, spray early.

WHO'S KIDDING WHO?

The madam of the house was feeling blue and to relieve her depressed mood confided to her maid, "I think my husband is having a love affair with his secretary."

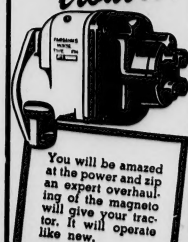

"I don't believe it," retorted the maid. "You're only saying that to make me jealous."

69 Enter Battle In Alberta Riding

EDMONTON — The last-minute entry of William R. Kent as a Progressive Conservative candidate in Acadia brought the number of candidates for Alberta's federal seats to 69 when nominations closed Monday.

Mr. Kent completed a full slate of Conservative candidates in the province, where all seats also are being contested by the Liberal and Social Credit parties. Nominations closed officially, otherwise, without a hitch at 2 p.m.

MST in 14 constituencies. Nominations in the other three ridings — Athabasca, Jasper-Edson and Peace River — closed May 13.

WHY THE YOUTH OF ALBERTA IS VOTING LIBERAL IN THIS FEDERAL ELECTION

LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

As young people we know that the Liberal Party—the only national party from coast to coast—has worked to upbuild Canada and open new horizons for young people.

RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT

We young people know that Alberta's prosperity is only one phase of the Liberal program for mineral and industrial expansion all across Canada.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Young people realize that family allowances, old age pensions, national hospital insurance, and other Liberal measures, provide us with a base of security so that we may go forward with confidence to build our nation.

CANADIAN CITIZENSHIP

As young people, we are proud of our Canadian Citizenship, established and fostered by Liberal governments.

EDUCATION

As young people, we approve of Liberal assistance to education, the $100,000,000 Canada Council; university grants; and vocational training grants of $1,415,700 in Alberta alone.

Young people are voting for these Liberal candidates:

Mr. and Mrs. S. Krueger and Cameron returned Monday to take up residence in their former home here.

Mr. Richard Law of Cold Lake was a weekend visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Law.

Earl Reimer of Cascade College, Portland, Oregon, was selected as editor of the 1957-58 school paper, "The Lookout." Mr. Reimer, whose home is in Calgary, is now a junior at Cascade and majoring in literature. He has been very active in school functions this year, particularly as a member of the "Royal Heirs" male quartet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Watkin and Valeta returned Sunday from a three-week holiday trip in B.C.

Rev. Stickle, pastor of the E.V.B. church, is attending a conference in Medicine Hat this week. Mr. E. Cogswell, the local layman delegate, accompanied by his wife, are having a visit with their daughter, who lives in Medicine Hat, after conference hours.

Mr. Mike Haener of Yellowknife, recently returned from a European trip, was a visitor in town last week.

Mrs. Tom Murphy got a real surprise one day last week, May 17, to be exact, when neighbors and friends dropped in to wish her well on her 82nd birthday. (The editor and his staff would like here to offer our belated greetings and trust we'll be reporting your 100th anniversary.)

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shay, of Sun Valley, Idaho, were guests of the latter's aunt, Miss Lillian Daley, over the weekend.

SPRINGSIDE NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mrs. Bill Collinge motored to Acme with Mrs. Irene Nimmons to visit Mr. and Mrs. Collinge. They came back via Sunnyside and called on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Prohl.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Wrigglesworth and Mrs. Chamberlain called at Lloyd Kershaw's on Sunday afternoon.

We are sorry to hear Mr. Chamberlain is back in the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Art Taylor of Acme stopped at Bill Collinge's Sunday evening on their way home from Edmonton. They are sporting a new car.

The next meeting of the Springside Group will be held at the home of Mrs. Peterson on June 6.

(Too Late For Last Week) Marion Kershaw spent the holiday weekend with Judy Rodney. Mr. and Mrs. R. Corbett and Brian visited at the Bill Collinge home on Saturday.

Jim Collinge spent the weekend with Jack Collinge. The former is at present working with a seismograph crew at Sundre.

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Innes were Mrs. Spence, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Callie, Heather and Rosemary.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Collinge of Acme called in recently to have afternoon tea with Mrs. George Innes.

JACKSON W.I. HEAR FROM ROVING REPORTER

On April 24th Jackson W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Carl Eckstrand, with Mrs. J. Ray presiding. Roll call was answered by giving a recipe for a one dish meal. Handicraft articles were turned in for the constituency display in Didsbury and other plans for same were finalized. Resolutions to be submitted to the Provincial W.I. convention in Edmonton were considered and voted upon. Mrs. J. Ray will attend as delegate.

The legal status of women received further deliberation and it was decided to draw up a resolution for further consideration at the convention. Mrs. C. Eckstrand also reported on the results of the tea survey carried out a year ago by C.A.C. people prefer their tea weak.

In a letter from Mrs. C. Davis, currently in England, she described her conducted tour through the Wedgwood Potteries and each step in the manufacture of fine china. She had also attended the Ideal Home Exhibition in London.

The accent of the evening was on fudge. In lighter vein Mrs. W. Owens discussed the merits of home-made candy, gave recipes for four different kinds of fudge, chocolate and caramel, and accompanied each with a generous sample.

The meeting closed with "The Queen."

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.
